

Kim's game

What to do:

- Put a variety of household items on a tray and memorise what is on there
- Cover up the tray and get your child to list what was on there
- Simplify for younger children by taking one item away and getting them to name the item that is missing

What you need:

- A tray
- A variety of household items to put on the tray
- A cloth or blanket to cover the tray

Benefits of this experience:

Traditionally played by scouts and the military to support memory function. Helps develop a persons ability to observe and remember details.

Story and rhyme time:

Visit your local library to find these books:

‘The Jungle Book’ by Rudyard Kipling

‘Don’t Forget the Bacon!’ by Pat Hutchins

You could also research Rudyard Kipling who invented the game.

Suitable for:
4+ year olds

